

Opensource Transition Resources

1. Introduction

An open collection of transition-related resources maintained by the Red Hat Pride Community. Contributions welcome!

2. What is this?

A gender transition is a difficult and confusing process and finding vital resources can be even harder. In addition to the social, medical, personal, and interpersonal issues transitions can present, legal and practical changes are often frustrating, obtuse, and overwhelming.

To help, we've created an open source documentation project: The Open Source Gender Transition Resource List. The purpose is to provide clear and easy access to information such as:

- How to legally change your name
- How to navigate changes for various online tools
- Communities, and networks and how to find local and regional specific instruction.

It is our belief at Red Hat that the power of community can make a profound impact on its individual members. And the hope for this project is that those who come after us can transition gracefully and with great ease. Thank you for reading, learning, and helping us achieve this. Please consider contributing!

5.1. California

5.1.1. Official State Support

The State of California allows you to change your name and gender, and has a well documented process with a how-to guide: <https://www.courts.ca.gov/genderchange.htm?rdeLocaleAttr=en>

The filing fees are $435, but you may apply for a waiver if you cannot afford this.

5.2. North Carolina

5.2.1. Wake County

Acquire the following documents: <https://www.lgbtcenterofraleigh.com/adult-programs/transgender-initiative/changing-your-name.html>

5.2.2. For Background Checks...

- Go to the Detention Center at 3301 Hammond Road and get 2 fingerprint cards from the CCBI. They cost $10 each, and they require cash. Bring $20. Note: Most instructions say to go to the Sheriff's Department. In Wake County, they no longer do it downtown but instead at the Detention Center.
- Send one of the fingerprint cards to the FBI along with:
- $14 certified check or money order payable to the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation
- Right to Review form, filled out
- Identification. Copies of birth certificate and ID are accepted.
- Go to <https://www.edo.cjis.gov/#/> and fill out the form, then pay the $18 by credit card and send the other fingerprint card to the address they tell you, along with a printout the confirmation email they send. Wait about 3 weeks for both to return. Using the website for the FBI results in both of them returning within a few days of each other.

For out-of-state birth certificates, find the appropriate steps here: <https://transequality.org/documents>

Go to the Wake County Courthouse, 12th floor, and sign in at the desk under “non-hearing”. Get a name change packet, as the appropriate forms are NOT available online. Full, complete, clear instructions are the first page in this packet.

Fill out the Notice of Intent to Change Name form and have the clerk stamp it. Go down to Floor S and post the Notice of Intent to Change Name form on the bulletin board under the appropriate month.

Leave up for 10 full business days, not counting the day posted or the day removed. Pull the Notice of Intent to Change Name form from Floor S and take it, as well as the results of both background checks and the notarized documents from the packet and take them back to floor 12. Sign in again under “non-hearing” and they'll assist you. When everything's correct, pay the $120 fee (cash, money order, or certified check) and they'll provide the court order. This can take a couple hours.

North Carolina has a pesky law (§ 101-6) that only allows one court ordered name change, fortunately there have been a number of appeals made and name changes granted. This link links to a story that highlights both denials, appeals, and the approvals granted.

As noted by a contributor: The best approach seems to be creating an email alias, and utilizing that. Your Google sign-in name can't be changed. If you want a fully fresh slate, you can create a new account and forward your old emails, but you cannot transfer purchases.

C.1. Suggesting edits online

If you think of something that can be added but don't want to get into editing docs, you can submit a suggested edit as a GitHub "issue", and one the maintainers will update the code and PDFs. You will need a free GitHub account to make suggestions.

You can quickly create a new suggestion by filling out the form here: <https://github.com/AshtonDavis/open-source-transition-resources/issues/new/choose> A suggestion "issue" is basically just an email. Please give your suggestion a title and describe how the content can be improved in the larger comment box.

C.2. Request GitHub Project Access

Send an email to OpenSource Transition Resources Project mailing list (ccs-mod-docs@redhat.com) asking nicely to be given access to OpenSource Transition Resources Project on GitHub. Please give us your GitHub username and use the following subject line: REQUESTING ACCESS.

C.5.1. Configuring the Build Environment

You can build the book locally using AsciiDoctor.

C.6. Building the PDF's

To build and view the document locally, run the following script:

$ publish.sh

Alternatively, if you use VS Code, you can build the HTML from the "Run Menu". This will build the source docs list along with country specific docs. They are automatically placed under the website/static/guide folder. The website will link to the source pdf or the html version. Country specific pages will be available under a download link off the main page of the site.
